

THE BURREN
LEADERSHIP RETREAT

The Studio Series

artful practice in uncertain times

Since 2014 we've been collaborating with artists, imagining leadership in a different way. Now, our network of thinkers, leaders, and artists are bringing this creative exploration to you, in online Studio Retreats.

Uniquely designed for your group or team, Studio Retreats and The Studio Series combine your improvisation, music, poetry and painting with compelling questions that will refresh, connect and transform your relationship with each other and these uncertain times.

If your group or team could benefit from a breath of fresh air and bringing more artistry to your practice:

“Thank you for helping us become more real together.”

“It was just what my spirit needed.”

“It had me gleaning the most profound learning about the leadership style that is required in our troubled world today.”
