

THE BURREN
LEADERSHIP RETREAT

The Studio Series

artful practices for uncertain times

Since 2014 we've been collaborating with artists, imagining leadership in a different way

Studio Retreats and The Studio Series are online experiences custom-designed for your group or team.

Our Creative Arts team looks forward to welcoming you in the Studio. They're an ensemble of musicians, poets, improvisors, and visual artists who are also educators, scientists, psychologists, theologians and business leaders. Together, you'll create a Studio experience as unique as your team.

The Studio is a casual environment, light on technique, rich with imagination and improvisation. It's a space where artful, adaptive leadership practices come to life. No previous art experience is necessary.

A Studio Retreat is a half-day, breath of fresh air for your team. A low-risk space for engaging with important questions and your creativity, it promises to revitalize you and the work you'll do together in the future.

The Studio Series includes 3-5 mini-retreats that will expand your team's awareness and help you uncover fresh, creative resources. By engaging with our Creative Arts team in practices that are well-matched to the complexity you face, you'll expand your ability to meet current leadership needs and thrive in the uncertainty of our time.

"Thank you for helping us become more real together."

"Just what my spirit needed."

"The live music was very special."

"It had me gleaning the most profound learning about the leadership style that is required in our troubled world today."

"I was feeling pandemic fatigue and burnout; now I feel a gentle wave."
